

The Neighbor

👁 14 ✓ 7 ★ 10

Chapter 1 by Elsie Williams

"Good morning Mr. Houston." said Lisa. "Good morning Lisa." said Mr. Houston happily. His real name was John but nobody ever calls him that but his wife. Him and his wife Karen were the nicest, sweetest couple in the neighborhood. They had one son together but he was killed when he was 19. The killer has never been found and the Houston's have never been the same. This coming week is the 2 year anniversary of his death. Everyone had a very hard time on the street except Mr. Rogers who nobody ever sees. Everyone on the street has the same question. Why? Why did he die? Who killed him? Still to this day people are asking themselves these same questions.

Chapter 2 by Aaron Balaky

It was 2004 when he was killed and the parents lost him on that one dark day. It was about 3:00 PM on a hot summer day when the Houston's lost their son somewhere around 76th street. Then they saw him and he saw them but a guy came up behind him and put a bag over his head and took him away. So nobody never really knew what happened to him. He could be dead or is he alive in some basement?

Some basement!

Chapter 4 by Samantha

She doesn't remember who, but I've been thinking about a basement not long after the Houston's son died. I've been looking at blueprints of the houses and started to wonder what really happened to Jeremy Houston!

She studied the pictures and took notes about the people living in the houses and even went around asking some neighbors about that night. Upon further investigation she discovered that only two houses in the quaint little neighborhood of Willow Falls had basements; her house and Mr. Rogers house. Obviously she hadn't taken or killed Jeremy but she decided that since Mr. Rogers hadn't been seen for years, he was number one on her suspect list.

She worked on finding Jeremy for months, collecting new evidence like pictures and samples from around the neighborhood and after 3 months, she was as close as she'd ever been to finding Jeremy and whoever kidnapped him.

But then something terrible happened. There was a massive flood and the whole neighborhood was practically destroyed. Including all of Lisa's evidence and every picture, map, or blueprint she'd created, and Mr. Rogers basement. In one foul swoop this flood took out all the evidence Lisa had and the only place she could think Jeremy was hidden. If he was in the basement of Mr. Rogers house, there's no way he survived that flood.

Well that's what Lisa thought...
